A happy caring environment, where we help to develop the potential of each child.

8th January 2021

Dear Parent/Carer

What a very challenging week for everyone. There is definitely light at the end of the Tunnel with mass vaccination being rolled out, already close to 2 million people are vaccinated. My Grandma of 95 had her first shot in the arm yesterday – she cheered!!

I would like to say a huge thank you to all the parents who have managed this week to help their children engage with the remote learning.

I have had some lovely feedback so far, the live lessons seem to be going well and for many of our older children this means that parents can hopefully engage in their own work. We continue to think about how best to plan these sessions. I was at a planning meeting just this morning where they constantly asked “how can children do this at home?” “what do parents need to do – how can I make that easier?”

For many of you this is not the first time and you are now experts!!! Mr Hollingsworth and his wonderful ICT team are available via email if you have any ICT issues.

We are also taking mental health very seriously – this second lockdown will be more challenging for our mental health and we are here to support. You will soon receive information from us about our ‘Wellbeing Wednesdays’.

Yesterday I sent out a letter from Jonathon Lewis asking you to think carefully about sending your child into school. The greater the numbers of children in school the higher the rate of transmission will be. For some children there is not an option, parents are working incredibly hard in the fight against Covid and so we must support this. Please think very carefully about whether the place in school is required.

Wishing you all a very safe weekend – remember

Stay at home – protect the NHS – save lives.

Yours sincerely
Mrs Firth
